

(Read now) A Race So Different: Performance and Law in Asian America (Postmillennial Pop)

A Race So Different: Performance and Law in Asian America (Postmillennial Pop)

Joshua Takano Chambers-Letson
DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#482408 in Books Joshua Takano Chambers letson 2013-12-02 2013-12-02Original language:EnglishPDF #1 9.00 x .71 x 6.00l, .85 #File Name: 0814769969279 pagesA Race So Different | File size: 15.Mb

Joshua Takano Chambers-Letson : A Race So Different: Performance and Law in Asian America (Postmillennial Pop) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Race So Different: Performance and Law in Asian America (Postmillennial Pop):

Winner of the 2014 Outstanding Book Award presented by the Association for Theatre in Higher Education

"Through a host of illuminating examples ranging from Puccini's Madame Butterfly to the military prisons at Guantanamo to the indie-rock band Dengue Fever, A Race So Different effectively develops the idea of 'racial exception' to characterize the legal statuses and imaginative spaces occupied by Asian Americans. Legal history, theater, and everyday performance come together in this illuminating, profound, and intrepid study." -Josephine Lee, University of Minnesota
Drawing upon theoretical insights of J.L. Austin, Erving Goffman, Carl Schmitt, Louis Althusser, and Michel Foucault, the author has fashioned an informative and nuanced study, which . . . is certainly provocative and fascinating. -The Journal of American History
About the Author Joshua Chambers-Letson is Associate Professor of Performance Studies at Northwestern University. He is the author of A Race So Different: Performance and Law in Asian America (NYU Press, 2013).