For the last several years, Off the Grid News has been leading the way in hard-hitting news, practical help, and time-saving tips for getting "off the grid." Daily articles run the gamut from gardening to hunting, from alternative energy to bartering, from homesteading to self-defense, and from faith to politics. And now the good people who bring you Off the Grid News, bring you the Big Book of Off-the-Grid Secrets, fifty of their most-read and informative articles. You'll find information on making your own yeast, fermenting foods, homesteading, gardening, food storage, EMPs, solar eruptions, preparedness planning, energy, water, self-defense, health, and so much more, all packed in the pages of this voluminous 466-page book. In addition, they've included the transcripts of ten of their most-listened to radio shows from Off the Grid Radio, covering topics such as childhood vaccinations, smart meters, growing vegetables successfully, and turning fear into an asset, among others. You won't find this much information packed into one book anywhere else. If you really want to protect you and your family in the coming hard times, then this compilation will be one of your biggest assets in your preparation library.
