

(Free and download) The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries: Research, User Applications, and Networking (Volume 2)

The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries: Research, User Applications, and Networking (Volume 2)

Carol Smallwood

*audiobook / ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

 Download

 Read Online

#1752081 in Books 2015-03-06 2015-03-06 Original language: English PDF # 1 8.89 x .94 x 6.06l, .0 #File Name: 1442247878332 pages | File size: 22.Mb

Carol Smallwood : The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries: Research, User Applications, and Networking (Volume 2) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries: Research, User Applications, and Networking (Volume 2):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. many useful ideas.By KmeowExtremely helpful. many useful ideas. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Some great ideas and projects described. By Jenny Brewer. This is a great resource for librarians who may not know the full extent of the tools Google has developed, or who may not be sure how those tools could actually help them. Google Scholar, Google Glass, Google Forms, and Google+ are products that librarians may have heard of, but have been waiting to see in action before trying them out. The ideas in this book will go a long way toward helping everyone feel more comfortable! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Jeannine Berroteran, independent researcher and author. By Jeannine Berroteran. "This volume can not only help both librarians and library users get the most out of what Google has to offer, but it also acquaints readers with resources on Google that they, otherwise, might not have discovered on their own."

The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries: Research, User Applications, and Networking, Volume 2

"This extensive collection of practical strategies for maximizing the potential of Google's many applications is a boon to library professionals and the patrons who rely on us for research success." Rose Petralia, Instruction Librarian, Evans Library at Florida Institute of Technology. Everyone can learn useful techniques from this book and needs a copy. Judy Donovan, Past-President, School Library Division of the Association for Educational Communications and Technology. These chapters provide real-world, step-by-step examples to use the power of Google and improve services in realms that go far beyond information retrieval. Judith Wines, Director, Altamont Free Library in Altamont, New York. Library users will find engaging information about free apps they may not have known they needed but do. April Ritchie, Adult Services Coordinator, Kenton County Public Library, Erlanger Branch, Erlanger, Kentucky. "If you've ever wanted to harness the power of Google for your library, you need to read this anthology." Melissa Cornwell, Distance Learning Librarian, Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont. "This volume is a must-have resource helping librarians of all stripes make the most of Google's productivity suite." David Robinson, Adult Services Librarian, Shenandoah County Library, Edinburg, Virginia. This collection is an essential resource to library professionals both well-versed and recent initiators of Google services to engage users. Samantha Helmick, librarian, Burlington Public Library, Burlington, Iowa. About the Author: Carol Smallwood received an MLS from Western Michigan University, and a MA in History from Eastern Michigan University. Librarians as Community Partners: an Outreach Handbook; Bringing the Arts into the Library are recent ALA anthologies. Others are: Women on Poetry: Writing, Revising, Publishing and Teaching (McFarland, 2012); Marketing Your Library (McFarland, 2012); Library Services for Multicultural Patrons: Strategies to Encourage Library Use (Scarecrow Press, 2013). Her library experience includes school, public, academic, special, as well as administration and being a consultant; she's a multiple Pushcart nominee.