2007 edition to award-winning children's picturebooks and literature. Each entry lists the book's title, author, illustrator, publisher, and a short summary of the book's contents. Books are listed chronologically, from the 2007 award-winning titles to the award-winning titles of 1922 (Newbery) or 1938 (Caldecott). The Newbery and Caldecott lists are separate; an additional section describes media used in Caldecott picture books. An introduction explaining the criteria and basics of the awards, as well as an index for quick reference, round out this excellent guide for librarians seeking quality titles to add to their children's book collections. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Great Book of Lists with enjoyable supplemental information By Mark E Thomas and Ronda Thomas I have enjoyed this book immensely. I have a list of my own, but this one is more up to date, and offers other details that I didn't know before. I can now use this one to get me more up to date... 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Book was in good condition. By seethiscrazylife.com Using as a record book of Newbery Award books we have read. Book was in good condition.

This comprehensive revision offers additional materials for the entries and brings consistency to the imprints. New to the 2007 edition is a feature essay by author, Booklinks founder, and former children's book editor for Booklist, Barbara Elleman, The John Newbery Medal: The First Decade. The Newbery and Caldecott Awards 2007 will help you introduce children's to outstanding literature and illustration and support your own literature selections from the criteria used for these celebrated awards.

"A recommended pick beyond the juvenile collection." "A superb and easy-to-use reference especially recommended for librarians." "Informative and provocative; the annotated entries for each of the award winning titles make fascinating reading." About the Author For more than eight decades, librarians from the Association for Library Service to Children (ALSC) have intensely scrutinized the children's books published each year, selecting the winning and honor books for the Newbery and Caldecott Awards. In addition, the ALSC division of the ALA is committed to creating a nation of readers, starting with the youngest. ALSC supports all those providing library services to children, including youth librarians, teachers, families, literature experts, publishers, and child advocates.
